

Abstract

The invention provides methods of detecting antibodies and neutrophils that can generate reactive oxygen species.